Freedom's Watch To Run Automated Telephone Calls Over Barnes' Lack Of Leadership On Energy

WASHINGTON – Freedom's Watch, a mainstream conservative issues advocacy organization, today began placing automated telephone calls highlighting Kay Barnes' failure to work towards real solutions in the face of sky high gas prices. Residents are encouraged to call Ms. Barnes' office and ask her to support comprehensive energy legislation that includes new domestic energy production.

Hi, I'm calling for Freedom's Watch to tell you how to pay less at the pump.

It's simple, urge liberals like Kay Barnes to support increased domestic oil production instead of higher taxes.

Did you know that Kay Barnes supported raising gas taxes by almost 18% and opposes exploring options for sources of American oil.

Missouri families are suffering at the pumps because of out-of-touch liberals like Kay Barnes and her San Francisco ally Nancy Pelosi.

Call Kay Barnes at 816-587-5400 and tell her that the solution to lower prices at the pump is not higher taxes.

"Americans have been waiting too long for Congress to take action and address high gas prices," said Foster Morss, spokesman for Freedom's Watch. "With Congress in the midst of a five-week vacation, it is past time for Kay Barnes to join the call to action for Congress to get back to work and pass a comprehensive energy plan that allows for new domestic energy production. The people of Missouri recognize that without real solutions we are destined to face crippling spikes in energy prices for years to come. They demand leadership on this issue, and it is high time Kay Barnes deliver it.”
